

New Faculty Teaching & Learning Tips

Spring 2014 Seven Principles Newsletter

Faculty Corner

To address student learning, do you
Apply Bloom's Taxonomy for learning, teaching and assessing?

Overview of the Taxonomy

2001 Revised Taxonomy

A Model of Learning Objectives PDF

Student Corner

Seven Vectors!

Not only did Chickering (1969) develop the seven principles for good practice, but he also developed a theory of identity development. How does this theory apply to your students?

1. Developing competence.
2. Managing emotions,
3. Autonomy towards interdependence.
4. Mature interpersonal relationships.
5. Establishing identity.
6. Developing Purpose
7. Developing Integrity.

Implement the Seven Principles?

Seven Principles for Good Practice YouTube
Review the Seven Principles for Good Practice in Undergraduate Education.
Download the Seven Principles PDF.

Consider completing this Assessment and Instructional Alignment Tutorial!

More on Chickering's Seven Vectors of Identity Development

Chickering's Theory of Identity Development

Use the New Faculty Checklist to plan your entire semester!

MyHCC Corner

MyHCC Best Practices?

As you build your course, you can organize course materials and choose tools to reflect the seven principles.

Blackboard OnDemand Learning Center –

Using Blackboard for Problem-based Learning
PDF Tutorial.

Blackboard Innovative Teaching Series –

Supporting the Seven Principles with Blackboard Learn You Tube Webinar

Technology Corner

Microsoft Windows 7

Most office and classroom computers feature Windows 7. Why not review features of this operating system?

- Personalizing your Computer
- Using Email and the Internet
- Getting Around the Desktop
- Finding Your Files

Explore the Getting Started with Windows 7 video tutorial.

Bookmark the New Faculty Page!