Teaching and Learning Best Practice

Student Success – SLS 1501

Course Overview: SLS 1501, College Success, is an interdisciplinary course that empowers students by preparing them for a successful college experience and providing them with additional opportunities to develop intellectual potential and life skills.

Teaching Strategies for SLS 1501

Career Project

Description: Provide a short description or narrative of the best practice.
Learning Objective: Provide the learning goals for the strategy, or application to course learning objectives.
Directions: The steps needed to apply the best practice
1. Project materials attached

Education Plan

Description: Provide a short description or narrative of the best practice.
Learning Objective: Provide the learning goals for the strategy, or application to course learning objectives.
Directions: The steps needed to apply the best practice
2. Education Plan materials attached

Group Project: How People Learn

Description: Provide a short description or narrative of the best practice.
Learning Objective: Provide the learning goals for the strategy, or application to course learning objectives.
Directions: The steps needed to apply the best practice
3. Group project materials attached

For additional information:
CITT Best Practice Page: http://citt.hccfl.edu/BestPractice.cfm?i=25
Insert additional source: